

How It Works

Upon first glance at the one-of-a-kind buckle, you may wonder how to properly cinch up your horse. Once you follow these instructions and see just how easy it is, you'll never go back to a regular buckle again.

Run the latigo under and through the top of the Roll Snug® Buckle then bring it back up through the rigging.

Bring the latigo back down to the Roll Snug® Buckle and feed through the bottom roller. The latigo must be fed around both rollers for optimum performance. If you have a longer latigo, be sure to use the top roller for any additional wraps before feeding through the bottom roller. (the latigo should only wrap around the bottom roller once).

Gently, but firmly, pull the latigo to "snug up" the cinch with ease.

Secure the latigo's position with the buckle tongue and tie off the latigo.
